THANK YOU

FOR MAKING

COASTAL

CAROLINA

NUMBER

ONE!

1969-70 was a busy year for all. The year will be remembered for the things we did and the friends we made. From Rat Week to May Day; from our first class to our final exam; from strange faces to familiar friends — we worked to become a part of Coastal.

We began the year with class elections which created enthusiasm and support for our favorite candidates. The Student-Faculty Reception was a success as was the Circle K Christmas Wonderland in December. We attended football games and basketball games, pep rallies and assemblies. We won and we lost: we succeeded and we failed. Halloween and Christmas were preceded by "fun-filled" (?) parties. 1969-70 was the year we dedicated our library addition, hosted the Carolina League Tournament and had a winning season in basketball. We were congratulated for our impressive Miss Coastal Carolina Pageant. We adopted a wounded puppy and took care of our own gamecock, Cino. We cheered for our baseball team and felt proud of our golf team. A new May Queen was crowned and an unforgettable May Dance was held for us. From "behind the scenes" and "on the stage" we worked. Perhaps this yearbook will bring many pleasant memories of the year's activities.

This yearbook is meant to be you. If it isn't, perhaps the annual staff owes you an apology. Yet, if it isn't, perhaps you owe the school an apology for not participating and supporting it. It stands to reason—if you don't take a part, you certainly can't be a part.

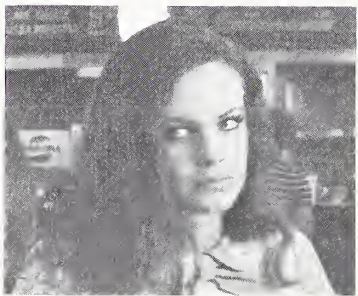

So, we, the annual staff, ask you not to expect the expected or criticize that which you did not try to improve. We give you what we hope is the true picture of our school—the 1970 Atheneum.

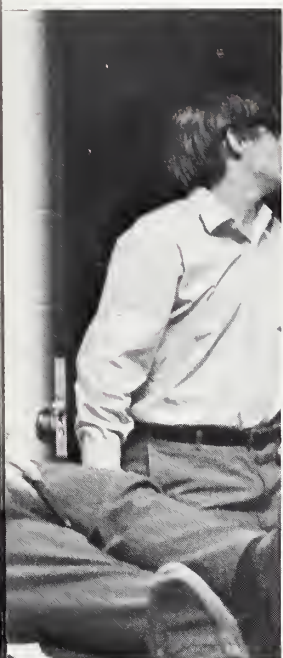

Best wishes,

Hebby

FROM THE DESK OF E. M. "DICK" SINGLETON

I feel that the 1969-70 school year at Coastal Carolina has been one of the most exciting in our nine year history. While we concerned ourselves primarily with academic affairs there still remained time for many interesting extracurricular activities.

A study of our final grade reports showed us that our students did slightly better work in the 1969-70 academic year than they did the year before. This means progress, of course. At the same time the interest in student life manifested itself in many cultural, social, and athletic events which, in my opinion, surpassed those of all previous years in quantity and quality.

I sincerely hope that this school year has been a meaningful learning experience for each of you and that it will be remembered as one of the important milestones of your life.

The future of Coastal Carolina looks bright. The possibility of becoming a four year college still strongly exists. Although the academic year 1970-71 is expected to be "tight" in a financial sense, the administration hopes to offer some junior level courses. University officials have indicated that they wish to see a much enlarged summer session at Coastal which would include junior, senior, and graduate level courses. This may become an opportunity to open up an avenue of curriculum design that would lead to a four year college.

Any future growth would of necessity require additional physical facilities. This requirement is being met by plans of the Horry County Higher Education Commission for the construction of a new half million dollar health and fine arts building. This new facility would provide eight specialized classrooms, six offices, a dark room, music practice rooms, locker rooms, and a collegiate size gymnasium with 2500 seats.

I feel that Coastal Carolina is on the move and that the future holds promise. Our progress, however, is dependent upon our alumni and friends, so I urge you, our class of 1970, to keep "Cino" in your minds and hearts forever.

Earth Day

Many times world-wide problems do not seem to touch our campus. However, on April 22, 1970, students from Conway, Myrtle Beach, and surrounding areas came together in the Coastal Carolina Stadium to learn more about the pollution that is rapidly destroying our land.

Many students walked or rode bicycles to emphasize the polluting effect of car exhaust. As these students marched, they picked up trash and cans that had been carelessly thrown along the highway.

These students are astounded by the facts about water, air, and people pollution. They were willing to listen to speakers from various positions explain how we will be affected if something is not done. The fight against pollution has begun, but it is not even nearly won.

The Baptist Student Union, more commonly known as the BSU, has become quite an active organization at Coastal Carolina. The BSU involves itself in many worthwhile Community projects. During the Christmas season the BSU sponsored a parking lot rampage to acquire canned goods for the needy. The price to park in the parking lot was 25 cents or a can of food. They are also involved in a Scholarship Drive and a project concerned with raising money for summer missions.

Singers To Entertain

Have you heard harmonious sounds coming from the lecture hall? If you haven't, perhaps you should stop and listen carefully one Tuesday at 10:30. This is when Coastal's Glee Club holds their weekly meeting. Although the Glee Club has only been organized a short while, it has already planned several appearances. The first of these appearances was at the dedication of Coastal's library wing, November 2. The songs they selected to sing at this event included "South Carolina," "This is Our Country," and "Bless This Home."

They also intend to perform for the Christmas Wonderland, which will open at Coastal in December. With approximately 28 members and under the direction of Joyce Parker, this should prove to be a very entertaining presentation. Let's show our Glee Club how much we appreciate their efforts by attending as many of their concerts as possible. If you are interested in joining the Glee Club, you are urged to do so. Contact Mrs. Parker.

We were also honored to be runner-up to the championship of the Myrtle Beach City League with a record of 8-4. # Miss Regional Campus 1970

Miss Susan Gassman

After weeks of preparation the 1970 Miss Coastal Pageant is almost a reality. Under the direction of Mrs. Helen Osteen and Miss Claudia Kirkman, thirteen contestants have been woven into the theme "The Signs of the Zodiac."

The pageant begins with emcee Glenn Arnette singing, appropriately, "Aquarius" from the smash Broadway musical Hair. Backstage the tension is high, but there are still moments of joking and laughter among the excited contestants and backstage observers.

On stage, contestant Joan Gainey charms the audience with "Eidelweiss" from The Sound of Music. Coastal's own version of Carol Burnette delights the audience with an ad lib comedy routine. Dangling precariously above the stage, Price Osteen sings "The Man in the Moon." Mr. Coastal Carolina candidates are introduced, and the five Miss Coastal finalists are chosen. The witching hour is fast approaching. Then the announcement: Mr. Coastal 1970 is William McCutcheon, second runner-up to Miss Coastal is Janice Robbins, first runner-up is Linda Sparks, and lovely Miss Joan Gainey will reign as the 1970 Miss Coastal Carolina.

May Day -

the big day at Coastal Carolina - a day that is filled with awards, picnics, games, a May Day ceremony, and is ended with a dance. This year, for the first time, Coastal had its own May Day ceremonies complete with an arch, flowers, and a traditional dance around the Maypole. Ten girls, sponsored by various organizations, were competing for the honor of becoming the 1970 May Queen. One by one the girls were announced, and they walked through an arch of flowers to take their place on the steps behind the gazebo. The 1969 May Queen, Miss Debby Little, came forward to relinquish her crown to the girl chosen by her peers as their queen. Eddie Benton, master of ceremonies, announced the 1970 queen, Miss Pam Stevens. The new queen was joined by her maids of honor - Rita Laney and Sheryl Skipper. Seated on her throne, the queen was honored by her court with a dance around the Maypole. The day was not over, for the night of May 1st was the time chosen for the May Dance. Here the queen was presented her flowers by the 1969 queen and she began her dance with the assistant director, Mr. Larry Biddle to the music of Billy Joe Royal.

There's No Stopping Us Now.

Determination is a part of it.
It's there when we realize there are new doors
to be opened to the future.
It's there when we realize that so many don't have the chances we do.
It's there when we just realize there is a thing called prejudice.
And war.
And hate.
And rebellion.
And riots.
It's there when we come face to face with the fact - It's up to us.
We must improve
that which is bad,
remove that which is unnecessary,
and invent that which is needed.
Do you accept the challenge - or turn your back on it?
It's offered to us.
So, we must educate ourselves and satisfy our determination
No, there's no stopping us now.
